(The rules in this chapter apply only to cotton mills in which the humidity of the air is artificially increased.)

General restrictions.

55. There shall be no artificial humidification in any room of a cotton mill whenever the wet bulb reading of the hygrometer is higher than that specified in the following schedule in relation to the dry bulb reading of the hygrometer at that time; or as regards a dry bulb reading intermediate between any two dry bulb readings indicated consecutively in the schedule, when the dry bulb reading does not exceed the wet bulb reading to the extent indicated in relation to the lower of those two dry bulb readings:—

Where this rule is frequently contravened, arrangement shall be provided for effecting additional ventilation by mechanical means after less than 3·5 degrees.

Restriction on use of steam.

56. No steam shall be used for the purpose of producing artificial humidification in any room of a cotton mill the dry bulb temperature of which exceeds 85 degrees.

Steam pipes.

57. The pipes used for the introduction of steam into the atmosphere of any room of a cotton mill shall, so far as they are within the room, be as small, both in diameter and length, as is reasonably practicable and shall be effectively covered with non-conducting material to the satisfaction of the Inspector so as to minimise the amount of heat thrown off by them into the room.

Provision of hygrometers.

58. (1) In all rooms of a cotton mill wherein artificial humidification is adopted, hygrometers shall be provided and maintained in such positions as are approved by the Inspector. The number of hygrometers shall be regulated according to the following scale:——

(7) Every degree from 50 degrees up to 120 degrees shall be clearly marked by horizontal lines on the stem; each fifth and tenth degree shall be marked by longer marks than the intermediate degrees and the temperature marked opposite each tenth degree, i.e., 50, 60, 70, 80, 90, 100, 110 and 120.

(8) The markings as above shall be accurate, that is to say at no temperature between 50 and 120 degrees shall the indicated reading be in error by more than two-tenths of a degree.

(9) A distinctive number shall be indelibly marked upon each thermometer.

(10) The accuracy of each thermometer shall be certified by the National Physical Laboratory, London, or such other authority as may be appointed by the Provincial Government, and such certificate shall be attached to the Humidity Register.

Maintenance of hygrometers.

63. Each thermometer shall be maintained at all times during the period of employment in efficient working order, so as to give accurate indications and in particular:—

(a) the wick and the muslin covering of the wet bulb shall be renewed once a week;

(b) the reservoir shall be filled with water, which shall be completely renewed once a day. The Chief Inspector may prescribe the use of distilled water or pure rainwater in any particular mill or mills in certain localities; and

(c) no water shall be applied directly to the wick or covering during the period of employment.

Certificate of accuracy of hygrometers.

64. If an Inspector gives notice in writing that a thermometer is inaccurate, it shall be replaced by another of certified accuracy within one month of the date of such notice, unless after examination by the competent authority specified under sub-rule (10) of rule 62, a fresh certificate of accuracy has been obtained within that time, in which case the new certificate shall be attached to the Humidity Register.

Affixing of hygrometers.

65. (1) No hygrometer shall be affixed to a wall, pillar or other surface unless protected therefrom by wood or other non-conducting material at least half an inch in thickness and distant at least one inch from the bulb of each thermometer.

(2) Each hygrometer shall be so mounted that the accuracy of the dry bulb temperature shall not be affected by the proximity of water in the reservoir.

Reading of hygrometers.

66. No readings shall be taken for record on any hygrometer within 15 minutes of the renewal of water in the reservoir.

DIRECTORATE OF AGRICULTURE, EAST BENGAL.

Dated Dacca, the 3rd February, 1953.

The Final Forecast of Cotton Crop of East Bengal for 1952-53.

[Note.—According to the Final Forecast of 1951-52 the area under Cotton in East Bengal represented some 2·2 per cent. of the total area under the crop in the whole of Pakistan. There are two varieties of the crop (viz., Early and Late) grown in East Bengal. The Cotton grown in this Province is mostly of short staple variety. The early variety is chiefly grown in the district of Chittagong Hill-tracts and to a small extent in Mymensingh district. The late variety is grown in a very limited area of Mymensingh district. This Forecast covers the period from April to the end of January.]

Character of the Season.—It has already been stated in the First and Second Forecasts of the crop that the weather and its effect on the cultivation and growth of the crop were quite favourable and the outturn was expected to be very good. But the the condition of the weather changed later on. Due to continuous drought flowering was retarded to some extent and as a result the total yield was a bit lesser than that was expected. Harvesting was started in the beginning of November 1952, which was normal.

Area Sown.—The areas sown with the early and late varieties of the crop are estimated at 58,175 acres and 45 acres this year, as against 56,510 acres and 45 acres respectively of last year. The increase in area is mainly due to high price of Cotton and favourable weather at sowing time.

Total yield.—The total yield of cotton is estimated at 17,170 bales and 10 bales this year, as against 17,805 bales and 14 bales respectively of last year (at the rate of 392 lbs. per bale).

S. HEDAYETULLAH,
Director of Agriculture, East Bengal.

DIRECTORATE OF AGRICULTURE, EAST BENGAL.

Dated Dacca, the 17th August, 1953.

The First Forecast of the Sugarcane Crop of East Bengal for 1953-54.

Note:—According to the All Pakistan Second Forecast of last year, the area under Sugarcane in the whole of Pakistan was 733,000 acres and that in East Pakistan was 224,000 acres. The East Pakistan's share of area was therefore represented about 30·6 per cent. of the total area under the crop in the whole of Pakistan.

This Forecast deals only with the area planted and it covers the period from December 1952 to the middle of July 1953.

Character of the Season:—The weather condition was quite favourable at the time of planting of Setts. Subsequent weather for the growth of the crop was also favourable except in a few districts where the crop suffered a bit due to drought. The present condition of the crop is satisfactory.

Time of planting:—The planting commenced towards the latter part of December and continued till the end of March.

Acreage:—The total area planted with Sugarcane in East Pakistan is estimated at 261,800 acres this year, as against 225,700 acres and 245,800 acres shown in the corresponding and the Final Forecasts respectively of last year. Increase in area as compared with that of last year's Final Forecast is due to high price of gur and favourable weather condition at the time of planting.

Director of Agriculture, East Bengal.

Preliminary Forecast of Summer Rice Crop of East Bengal for 1952-53.

Dated Dacca, the 20th March 1953.

The First Forecast of the Sugarcane Crop of East Bengal for 1953-54.

[Note:—In the whole of Pakistan Summer rice is grown only in East Bengal. According to the All-Pakistan Final Forecast of the rice crop of last year, the area under summer rice represented some 3·7 per cent. of the total rice area in the whole of Pakistan. This forecast covers the period from December, 1952 till the end of February, 1953.]

Character of the season.—Favourable weather condition was prevailing at the time of transplantation. Drought in the early stage hampered the growth of the crop to some extent. But subsequent rainfall has been much beneficial to the crop.

Area transplanted:—The total area under summer rice in the Province is estimated at 836,300 acres this year as against 826,900 acres and 825,700 acres shown in the corresponding and the final forecasts respectively of last year. The increase in area is mainly due to high price of food grains and favourable weather condition at the time of transplantation.

Outturn.—The average outturn of the crop for the Province as a whole is estimated at 82·5 per cent. of the normal this year, as against 82 per cent. and 80 per cent. of the normal shown in the corresponding and the final forecasts respectively of lasl year.

Total yield.—On the basis of 82·5 per cent. as the average outturn and 13·6 maunds of Clean rice as the normal rate of yield per acre, the gross yield of the crop for the Province works out to 344,700 tons this year, as against 338,700 tons and 330,500 tons shown in the corresponding and the final forecasts respectively of last year.
